This is a social security action seeking review of a final decision of the Commissioner of Social Security. On August 9, 2005, a magistrate judge issued a 16-page report and recommendation (docket # 12), recommending that the Commissioner's decision be affirmed. The matter is now before the court for de novo review on the basis of plaintiff's objections to the report and recommendation. See FED R. CIV. P. 72(b). Plaintiff asks the court to disregard the report and recommendation, reverse the Commissioner's decision, and award plaintiff benefits. Alternatively, plaintiff requests that the Commissioner's decision be overturned and that the court order a post-judgment remand pursuant to sentence four of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). (docket # 13 at 6). Plaintiff argues that the magistrate judge's report and recommendation contains flawed analysis of the issues plaintiff raised concerning (1) the ALJ's credibility determination, (2) the ALJ's RFC determination, (3) the ALJ's findings regarding plaintiff's ability to perform the mental demands of unskilled work, and (4) the ALJ's consideration of plaintiff's mother's statement. Upon review, the court finds that all plaintiff's objections are insubstantial. The court finds that the magistrate judge's analysis on these issues to be correct and persuasive. Plaintiff's objections will be overruled, the magistrate judge's report and recommendation will be adopted as the court's opinion, and judgment will be entered in defendant's favor.
